

Introduction

Hook:

(write a sentence that makes your reader interested in your whole paper!)

Introduce Relevant Context & Evidence

Thesis

Body Paragraphs

Claim:

(assert a provable statement relevant to the thesis)

- Introduce the source and detail the evidence that it provides
 -
 -
- Analysis: Explain how the evidence supports your claim.
 -
 -

Link:

(Connect the claim to the thesis and show why the analyses are important to them.
Transition into the next paragraph)

Claim:

(assert a provable statement relevant to the thesis)

- Introduce the source and detail the evidence that it provides
 -
 -
- Analysis: Explain how the evidence supports your claim.
 -
 -

Link:

(Connect the claim to the thesis and show why the analyses are important to them.
Transition into the next paragraph)

Counter Claim:

(Introduce an alternative perspective to your thesis)

- Address counterclaim with rebuttal, refutation, or concession.
 -
- Introduce a relevant source and detail the evidence that it provides
 -
- Analysis: Explain how that evidence refutes, rebuts, or moves beyond the concession.
 -
 -

Link:

(Connect your rebuttal, refutation, or concession to the thesis and show why this is important to it.
Transition into the conclusion)

Conclusion

